GERMAN SOCIETIES DEDICATE NEW FLAG

Gala Event Observed with Patriotic Celebration.

SAENGERFEST IS APPLAUDED

In Gathering at Loeffler's Park, Bladensburg, National Importance Is Typified When Twenty-four Organizations Assist in Consecration of Banner Given the Verein Baden.

May 31, 1909, will remain engraved in golden letters upon the annals of the Verein Baden of this city, in particular, and of Washington's German history in general, signifying, as it does, a day whose international importance was heightened with demonstrations of intense patriotism—a solemn declaration of allegiance to their adopted country and home, and of love and admiration for the land of their forefathers.

An opportunity for this outburst of patriotism was offered by the festivities in connection with the dedication of the new banner of the Verein Baden, which took place in the presence of thousands of Germans of this city at Loeffler's Park, in the Bladensburg road, yesterday afternoon.

Almost every German society of this city, and there are twenty-four of them, was represented by a delegation, and the flag or banner representing their respective organizations gave the scene a highly picturesque and artistic aspect. The Saengerbund, the Arion, and the Germania Gesangsverein were present with their choruses, contributing songs to the programme and creating enthusiasm, joy, and happiness among young and old Germans from the north and the south, the east and the western part of their old homeland.

Amusements of all kinds, speeches, illumination of the grounds, and day fireworks added to the joy of the German people and their friends and guests.

Harry Rothschild was the orator of the day.

Carl Hammel, the chairman of the arrangements committee, made the address of welcome.

Louis Schreff, the president of the society, made an address in which he reviewed the history of the new flag. At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Schreff requested the young ladies to unveil the flag, which was done, proposing three cheers to the Grand Duke of Baden, which were taken up with a will and enthusiasm. Miss Anna Schreff, the daughter of the president of the society, unveiled the Saengerbund flag, which is of heavy broadcloth silk of red and yellow, bearing in its center the coat-of-arms of the reigning house of Baden, artistically embroidered, and set with precious stones. The German Embassy was represented by one of its attaches, who extended to the society his best wishes.

The members of the organization assembled at their headquarters in August Schwarz's hall in Seventh street at noon, and preceded by a mounted detachment, Capt. Miller commanding, and by Hoyerberger's Band, they paraded down Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue to the picnic place. Three big touring cars were used in transporting the Badenser and their new flag to the park.

Young Ladies Assist.

The young ladies assisting Miss Schreff at the unveiling of the flag were: Miss Millie Schreff, the Misses M. Lichtenfels, A. Lichtenfels, J. Miller, F. Miller, Millie Wiener, M. Glock, L. Hedenkaemper, S. Hedenkaemper, and others. The committees in charge of the Volk-fest were: Carl Hammel, chairman, Harry Rothschild, A. Reinhardt, C. Egloff, John Kraft, and H. Dittes.

The officers of the Columbia Turnverein decorated the graves of Turner, Ricks and Ohls in Prospect Hill Cemetery. They were members of the Turnverein, which was one of the first to volunteer their services in the civil war, and who lost their lives at Great Falls.

REIDS GIVE A DINNER.

Delegates to Chemistry Congress Guests at American Embassy.

London, May 31.—Ambassador and Mrs. Reid gave a dinner to-night to the American delegates to the International Congress of Applied Chemistry. A reception followed.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid received the guests at the head of the staircase. Mrs. Reid wore white with pearl ornaments.

The chief thing which impressed the guests at to-night's reception, at Dorchester House, was the beauty of its fine collection of pictures.

ISSUES LETTER TO PUBLIC.

Arthur C. Moses Makes Appeal for Playgrounds Support.

Owing to the fact that President Taft, Speaker Cannon, Postmaster General Hitchcock, and other high government officials have expressed their indorsement of the purpose to extend more generally the playground system of the city, Arthur C. Moses, vice president of the Washington Playgrounds Association, has issued another strong public letter to the citizens generally, seeking a more liberal support of the movement.

Mr. Moses points out that the experience of all juvenile court officials, here and in other cities, has shown that public playgrounds materially reduce the list of offenders more than one-third. The beneficial results of such a condition, he says, the citizens of the District must appreciate. Each year, Mr. Moses says, the playgrounds are becoming more and more a factor for the uplifting of children, and the attendance of patrons of the grounds increases and keeps pace with the good work being done and the beneficial influence exerted, which reduces crime in the same proportion as the work of the association is extended.
